FUND THEIR ONLY CHANCE

Tribune Will Send First Party of Boys and Girls on Friday and Others Are to Go Soon.

The great day comes to-morrow. Six hundred thousand useful minds have been focused on Friday, June 27, for weeks.

To-morrow the city schools close. What then? What then for the mighty army of the trudging along the toilsome road toward knowledge?

For many of them—John Andrews Smythe, 3d, for instance, or Margaret Higgenbotham Jones—the coming of vacation opens up vistas of a summer spent in the country. John, 3d, and Margaret H. in fancy are already bathing in cool shallows, picnicking in woodland glades or romping on breeze-swept heights. And in a day or two the fancy will have become a reality.

Hats off to them. May the happiest and best of vacations be theirs! But how about "Johnny" Smith or "Sally" Jones? How about grave-faced Maggie Jones? What are the summer vistas that stretch before them? Instead of tree clad hillsides, the narrow defiles of the city streets, with house fronts draped in bedding. Instead of streams of limpid coolness, puddles left by the rain in refuse choked gutters. Instead of shady woodland glades, the glaring pavements where the heat burns down from the skies above and radiates up from the scorching stones below with equal fervor.

A great day is to-morrow for the Four Hundred of the schools, for the four thousand, too, doubtless. Perhaps by a wild flight of imagination one might include the 60,000 in the list of the lucky to whom the country will let down the bars this summer.

There are left yet, however, the 200,000. But to-morrow is a great day! It is the day when the Tribune Fresh Air Fund begins to attack in earnest the problem of providing country outings for these 200,000. For weeks past plans have been making in preparation for this great first day of vacation.

As a result, 50 boys and girls will set out by boat and train on Friday for a glorious fortnight in the kingdom of Fresh Air. Five hundred others will follow them on Saturday. Still others on Monday, and every day next week—and every day all summer, for that matter. By the Fourth of July about two thousand youngsters will have been started on their vacations.

The 200,000 and there are really many more than that number in New York who have no chance of any country vacation except a Fresh Air outing—present a staggering problem. To solve it would mean the sending away of 200 children each day of the public school vacation. Last year the Tribune Fund took care of about 11,000 of the great army of needy children. How far on the road toward the 200,000 it can go this summer, your friend, The Tribune Fresh Air Fund is the public's work, supported entirely by the public's voluntary contributions.

Five dollars will bring to one boy or one girl—some poor, friendless little lad or lass—the inestimable boon of two weeks in the country. Can you picture the bliss of the tot whose travels have been confined to East Side streets when he or she is transported to the land of the great green out-of-doors? This bliss it is your job to give. Will you do it? Now?

NEWPORT FLOWER SHOW

Summer Residents in Competition at Harbour Court.

[By Telegram to The Tribune.]
Newport, June 25.—At the summer home of Mrs. John Nicholas Brown, on the southern harbor front, there was opened to-day the joint flower show given by the Garden Association, made up exclusively of summer residents, and the Newport Horticultural Society.

Harbour Court, with its trees and gardens, made an admirable place for the exhibition. The display especially of cut flowers, vegetables and fruits from the gardens and hothouses of the summer residents was a fine one. Tea was served in the little summer home which Mrs. Brown recently had erected.

One of the largest winners of the show was Mrs. Thomas J. Emery, of Cincinnati, who has a summer home in Middletown. Her roses, sweetpeas, fruit, foliage plants and vegetables took many prizes. Roses from the estate of W. W. Astor, Mrs. Sidney Webster, Mrs. T. O. Richardson, Miss Fanny Foster and August Belson, most also figured in the winnings, and the latter won with gladiolus and fruit. Mrs. French Vanderbilt's vegetables, fruit and other outdoor grown plants were winners in their classes. Sweetpeas from the gardens of Mrs. William S. Wells and Mrs. William B. Leeds, and petunias and schizanthus from the H. M. Brooks estate won, and Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, with her rock and alpine plants, was also a winner.

Mrs. Hamilton Fish Webster headed the committee from the Garden Association, and Andrew S. Melkie, the committee from the Horticultural Society, which had charge of arrangements.

QUITS PHILIPPINE SOCIETY Quezon Out of Sympathy with Its Announced Policy.

Washington, June 25.—Manuel Quezon, Resident Commissioner for the Philippine Islands in Congress, has resigned from the executive committee of the Philippine Society, and also as a member, because he is in sympathy with the announced purposes of the society, nor with the course he says has been pursued by the society's officers and members in the affairs of the islands.

In his letter of resignation Mr. Quezon writes that he joined the society with the belief that he could aid in the promotion of its announced purpose, "to create a more sympathetic interest between the American and Filipino people." He soon suspected, he says, that the real object was to create a public opinion in favor of the indefinite retention of the islands by the United States.

"I am satisfied beyond any question," he adds, "that the society has been organized to gather the scattered forces that are now at work to preserve the present regime in the Philippine Islands and systematize and concentrate their efforts. It is thus apparent that what in the opinion of the society is a sympathetic interest between the American and Filipino people is nothing more or less than the continuation of their present governmental bond."

Mr. Quezon declares that neither philanthropic, religious nor commercial aid will "reconcile the Filipinos to the policy of colonialism."
